The Ninety-ninth Session of the Seminary will be formally opened by exercises in Miller Chapel, on Friday morning, September sixteenth, at eleven o'clock. On the day preceding, however, new students are expected to meet the Registrar, for matriculation, in the parlor of Hodge Hall, at their convenience, between the hours of nine and four. On the same day at three o'clock in the afternoon students will draw for rooms; the drawing will be held in the office of the Treasurer in Hodge Hall. The schedule of regular lectures and recitations will go into effect on Friday afternoon. Extra-curriculum and graduate courses will begin during the last week of September. The attention of students, alumni and other friends of the Seminary is called to the Fall Conference which has become an established and helpful feature of the Seminary year. Arrangements for the next Conference are now being perfected. The dates are Monday and Tuesday, October the seventeenth and the eighteenth. The opening address will be delivered at five o'clock on Monday afternoon, by the Rev. John R. Davies, D.D., pastor of the Bethlehem Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia.

Among the other speakers who have promised to take part in the Conference are the Rev. Henry van Dyke, D.D., LL.D.; the Rev. Chas L. Goodell, D.D., of Calvary M. E. Church, New York City; Kerr Duncan Macmillan, B.D., of Princeton; the Rev. James M. Farr, of Christ Church, New York City.

On Tuesday there will be an early morning prayer-meeting, and regular sessions of the Conference at nine-thirty, three, and seven-thirty o'clock. Among the subjects to be treated will be "The Work of Preaching", "The Physical Life of the Minister", "The Social Life of the Minister", "The Intellectual and Spiritual Life of the Minister", "The Work of the Institutional Church", "Personal and Pastoral Evangelism".

A number of the alumni have signified their desire of being present to enjoy the privileges of the Conference. Arrangements will be made for their entertainment in case they communicate with the Rev. Paul Martin, Secretary of the Faculty. A cordial invitation is extended to all; and it is hoped that the widest publicity may be given to this announcement of the Conference.

The Stone Lectures

The Faculty of the Seminary is most fortunate in having secured as Lecturer on the L. P. Stone Foundation, for 1910-1911, Sir W. M. Ramsay, Kt., Hon. D.C. L., etc, Professor of Humanity in the University of Aberdeen. Professor Ramsay is well known in America by the publication of his books, among which may be mentioned, "St. Paul the Traveler and the Citizen", "The Cities of St. Paul", "Paul's Epistle to the Galatians", etc. It is understood that the lectures will be delivered early in the Fall, but the exact dates cannot be announced at present.

The Centennial Celebration

The Committee of the Directors, Trustees, and Faculty, having in charge the matter of the celebration of the Centennial Anniversary of the founding of the Seminary, in May 1912, has presented a report recommending that active measures be taken, without any delay, to secure, if possible, a substantial increase of the endowment of the Seminary. The report states that "The Seminary is in need of an addition to its permanent funds of at least $500,000, if it is to do an aggressive and expanding work and keep pace with what is being done in some of the leading theological institutions of this country." It is further recommended that the Centennial Committee be authorized to secure the services of a secretary, who in co-operation with the President of the Seminary, shall devote himself to the work of raising of this memorial fund.

The Day of Prayer for Colleges

The Day of Prayer for Colleges, appointed by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, was duly observed in the Seminary by appropriate religious exercises. In the morning at eleven o'clock, and again in the evening, sermons were preached by the Rev. Jno.

F. Patterson, D.D., of Orange, N. J., one of the Directors of the Seminary. Before the morning service the students met for prayer in groups arranged according to colleges, states, and countries. A report of the religious conditions existing in the seventy-two colleges represented in the Seminary was presented at the morning service.

Assembly Reunion

On Tuesday evening, May twenty-sixth during the session of the General Assembly at Atlantic City, a reunion and banquet were enjoyed by the alumni of Princeton Seminary. Arrangements for the gathering were made by the Rev. Robert Inglis, D.D., of the Class of 1891. Nearly one hundred guests were present. Professor Erdman presided, and introduced the following speakers: Dr. Thomas D. Barclay '70, ex-Moderator of the General Assembly; Dr. Geo. Alexander '70; Dr. W. H. Roberts '73, Stated Clerk of the General Assembly; Dr. John Laird '95; Dr. J. Ritchie Smith '76, Chairman of the Assembly's Committee on Theological Seminaries, and Dr. James D. Moffat '72, ex-Moderator of the General Assembly.

Seminary Gymnasium

At their meeting on May 10th, the Trustees decided to transform the old Refectory into a gymnasium, and it is expected that the work will be begun at once and be completed in time for the opening of the Seminary in the fall. The plans contemplate the removal of all interior wood work, partitions, stairways, etc., the lowering of the floors so as to give abundant head room, and the installation of shower baths, toilet rooms, lockers, etc. When completed the gymnasium will fully meet all the needs of the Seminary in that line for many years to come.

* * *

Under the careful oversight of Mr. R. M. Anderson, the entire physical equipment of the Seminary is being placed in the very highest degree of efficiency. During the coming summer vacation all of the plumbing in the three dormitories is to be replaced with a modern equipment of the best kind.

Expenses at Princeton

The question as to the cost of residence at Princeton Seminary is so frequently asked that a simple statement in reference to necessary expenses is added. Further information relative to scholarship aid may be secured by addressing Dr. Wm. B. Greene, Jr.. "There is no charge for tuition or room-rent. The fee for steam heat and electric light in study and bed room is $12 per year. Board can be obtained at $4.00 a week. Total of necessary expenses, outside of text books, about $163 for the Seminary year."

The Rev. S. W. Beach

The Rev. Sylvester Woodbridge Beach, who was elected as a member of the Board of Directors, at the May meeting, is the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Princeton. Mr. Beach is a graduate of Princeton University of the Class of 1876, and was graduated by the Seminary in 1880. After successful pastorates at Baltimore, Md., and Bridgeton, N. J., Mr. Beach conducted the work among the students of the Latin Quarter, Paris, France, from 1902-1906, during a part of which time he served as pastor of the American Chapel in Paris. Mr. Beach has been serving the First Church of Princeton since 1906, and has shown a deep and sympathetic interest in all the work of the Seminary.

Professor Cotton

The friends of Dr. Jesse Lee Cotton are congratulating him upon his election as Professor of Old Testament Exegesis in the Presbyterian Theological Seminary of Kentucky, but his acceptance of this high honor is felt to involve a distinct loss to Princeton Seminary where Dr. Cotton had endeared himself alike to the members of the Faculty and to the students.

Dr. Cotton was born at Pulaski, Pa., April 28, 1862, graduated from Westminster College in 1885, and from the Western Seminary in 1888. He served as pastor at Slippery Rock and North Liberty, Penna., at Parnassus and Corapolis. In 1904 he received from Grove City College the degree of Doctor of Divinity. He has been Instructor in Semitic Philology in Princeton Seminary since 1907. Dr. Cotton was elected on May 3, 1910 as Professor of Old Testament Exegesis in the Presbyterian Theological Seminary of Kentucky. He will enter upon his duties in Louisville the coming fall.

Y. M. C. A.

The Young Men's Christian Association has carried on its work during the year with marked interest and encouraging results. Eleven mission study courses show an enrollment of ninety-three men. The Mission Fund shows an increase over previous years. The subscriptions from the students and faculty amount to $1930.75.

The Deputation Work found an unusual opportunity this year in sending out returned delegates to report the Rochester Convention.

The Neighborhood Work included the maintenance of four country Sunday Schools and churches, besides work in Princeton Sunday Schools.

The Devotional Committee added a new and very helpful feature by establishing a monthly union prayer-meeting.

The Volunteer Band had thirty-four members who held weekly meetings.

The Seminary was represented at the Rochester Convention by 16 student delegates and one member from the faculty.

The following officers have been elected for the ensuing year. D. R. Evans, President; F. H. Stevenson, Secretary; Darley, Treasurer.

Ninety-Eighth Annual Commencement

The exercises were opened on Sunday morning, May the eighth, by the service, in Miller Chapel, at which the sermon was delivered by President Patton, who also conducted the observance of The Lord's Supper.

On Monday afternoon was held the stated meeting of the Board of Directors. The Rev. Sylvester W. Beach was elected as a member of the Board.

Tuesday was a day of ideal spring beauty; and a large number of friends and alumni were present to enjoy the exercises in Miller Chapel, and the dinner in Stuart Hall. The President of the Board of Directors, President E. D. Warfield, D.D., LL.D. of Lafayette College conducted the exercises in Miller Chapel. After the Scripture reading from the first and second chapter of the Epistle to the Hebrews, prayer was offered by the Rev. George Alexander, D.D., of New York City. An impressive address to the graduating class was then delivered by the Rev. Frederick W. Loetscher, Ph.D., pastor of the Oxford Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia. It was a plea for the preaching of the Gospel of the Cross of Christ, so presented as to meet the spirit of an age marked by a definite ethical awakening, an effort for social reconstruction, and a movement toward Christianity. At the close of his address Doctor Loetscher, as Secretary of the Board of Directors, made announcement of the Fellowships and Prizes. The diplomas were distributed by President Warfield. After conferring the degree of Bachelor of Divinity upon students who had completed special advanced work, President Patton addressed the graduating class. The exercises were concluded with the singing of the class hymn and the benediction.

President—The Rev. Professor Chas. R. Erdman, '91, of Princeton.

Vice-President and Secretary—The Rev. Joseph H. Dulles, '77, of Princeton.

The report of the Treasurer was received with enthusiasm.

The following resolution was presented and unanimously adopted:

The Alumni Association hereby places on record its high appreciation of the "Biological Catalogue" of 1909. This work of 661 pages has been brought to completion by the Librarian of the Seminary after several years of indefatigable labor. It is nothing less than a monumental achievement; and it is so thoroughly done that future compilers will find their task comparatively easy.

The Alumni Association would hereby express to the Rev. Joseph H. Dulles, our secretary and historian, their deep gratitude for the work he has accomplished in compiling the "Biographical Catalogue"; we recognize the high ideal he has placed before him in the great task; and we congratulate him and the Association upon the industry and highly specialized skill which have been united to produce a book invaluable to Princeton Alumni of this and succeeding generations.

The President of the Alumni Association, the Rev. Charles Wood, D.D., pastor of the Church of the Covenant, Washington, D. C., presided and introduced the speakers.

President Francis L. Patton, D.D., LL.D., spoke in behalf of the Seminary and urged the "adoption of the budget" of $500,000 to be raised as a memorial fund in celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Seminary.

The Class of 1850 was represented by two members who after sixty years of service, are still actively engaged in the gospel ministry; they are the Rev. Thomas S. Childs, D.D., of Washington, D. C. (Chevy Chase) and the Rev. David Tully, D.D., of Media, Penna. The latter of these veterans is engaged in organizing a new church for which he made an impressive plea.

The Class of 1860 was represented by the Rev. Isaac A. Blauvelt, D.D., and by the Rev. Daniel S. Gregory, D.D., LL.D. The former spoke for the class. He has just completed his thirty-sixth year as pastor at Roselle, N. J.

The Rev. George Alexander, D.D., pastor of the University Place Church, New York City, spoke for the class of 1870, which was also represented by the Rev. Lyman Darrow Calkins, D.D., the Rev. John Beatty Howell, and the Rev. W. P. White, D.D.

For the Class of 1880 the speaker was the Rev. Geo. P. Wilson, D.D., pastor of the Northminster Church, Washington, D.C. Many members of this class were present, and the same was true of the classes of 1890 and 1900, which were represented respectively by the Rev. F. B. Everitt, of New Park, Pa., and the Rev. Minot C. Morgan, of Summit, N. J.

The Chair of Homiletics

On Tuesday, May the twenty-sixth, a special meeting of the Board of Directors was held at Atlantic City, and the Rev. Frederick W. Loetscher, Ph.D., was elected as Professor of Homiletics. Dr. Loetscher was born at Dubuque, Iowa, May 15th, 1875, and was graduated by Princeton University in 1896, and by Princeton Theological Seminary in 1900. After a course of graduate study in the University of Leipzig, Germany, he was ordained by the Presbytery of New Brunswick, December 19th 1903. During the next four years he served in Princeton Seminary as Instructor in the Department of Church History. Since 1907 he has been the pastor of the Oxford Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia. He received the degree of Bachelor of Divinity from Princeton Seminary in 1900, and 1906 the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Princeton University. Doctor Loetscher has not yet signified his acceptance of the professorship offered him by the action of the Board of Directors but it is expected that he will give a favorable reply to this call of the Seminary for his services and will assume the duties of the Homiletic Department at the opening of the Seminary in September.

After attending the World's Sunday School Convention in Washington, D. C., Professor Erdman sails June 1st. as a delegate to the Missionary Conference in Edinburgh.

Dr. Lowrie

It is learned with deep regret that the Rev. Samuel T. Lowrie, D.D., has found it necessary to withdraw from the active work of the Board of Directors. Dr. Lowrie was elected to membership in the Board in 1893, and since that time has discharged his duties with the most devoted faithfulness. Since 1905 he has held the position of Second Vice-President. His absence will be deeply felt in all the deliberations and activities of the Board. The Rev. John R. Davies, D.D., has been elected to serve as Second Vice-President in place of Dr. Lowrie.

The Bible of 1911

The Universities of Oxford and Cambridge are preparing to issue a Commemorative Edition of the Bible, to celebrate the three hundredth anniversary of the publication of the "Authorized" or "King James" Version. This is not to be a new translation nor a revision, but merely an edition in which certain archaic words and misleading renderings are to be replaced by other readings. This editorial work is being first done by a company of Americans who will submit their renderings to a similar committee in England. The American Committee is to meet in Princeton during the last ten days of June. The members of the Committee will be entertained at the Princeton Inn, and the sessions will be held in the Lenox Reference Library or in the other buildings of the Seminary. Professors Wilson and Erdman have been assisting in the work of the American Committee.

The New Chapel Organ

A long felt want has been met by the installation last March of a modern two-manual pipe organ in Miller Chapel. The new organ, which was built by C. S. Haskell of Philadelphia is not only a delightful and inspiring adjunct to our service of praise, but makes a handsome appearance in the Chapel with its gold-bronze pipes and quartered oak case. It has electro pneumatic action; is equipped with the Haskell Patent Register Keys (taking the place of stop-knobs), and concave radiating pedals and is supplied with wind by a one-half horse power kinetic motor and blower placed in the basement. While not a large organ it is of beautiful tone, rich and sweet, and of power and volume amply sufficient for the purposes of the Chapel.

A public recital was given on the new organ on Thursday evening, March 24, by Mr. D. Edgar Crozier. Mr. Crozier is a graduate of Princeton University of the Class of '86 and is the organist of Calvary Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia. By his judiciously selected program and his masterly playing he not only delighted his audience but displayed all the resources of the instrument to the best advantage.

The scheme of the organ as submitted by the builder is as follows:

City Visitation Work

During the year the members of the Middle Class have been privileged to make regular trips to Philadelphia and New York during a series of Sundays, to take part in mission work and to attend the services and investigate methods of work in various churches, missions and Sabbath schools. The plan is to be continued during the coming Seminary year.

John H. Converse

Princeton Seminary shares very definitely in the great loss sustained by the entire church in the death of John H. Converse, LL.D., which occurred in Philadelphia on May the third. Dr. Converse was elected as Trustee of the Seminary in the year 1896 and served faithfully until the time of his death.

ROYAL JESSE SMALLEY

The Faculty of Princeton Theological Seminary, having learned with much sorrow of the death of Mr. Royal Jesse Smalley, A.M., B.D., Gelston-Winthrop Fellow in Apologetics, put on record the following minute expressive of their appreciation of him, and direct that a copy of the same be sent to the Princeton Press, to the Seminary Bulletin and also to the family of the deceased.

To the Faculty of Princeton Theological Seminary the death of Mr. Royal Jesse Smalley is a blow as serious as it was unexpected. Mr. Smalley's progress in his studies in all the departments, but particularly in the philosophical branches, aroused and sustained high expectations for his future. We felt that he was sure to become a scholar. The soundness of his views, and, especially in philosophy and theology, the judicial habit of his mind and above all, his faculty for seeing to the heart of questions, convinced us that his scholarship would always be used on the side of truth and right. His clear and strong English, his skill in argument, his zeal for what he believed, led us to feel that his advocacy would be as effective as it would be learned and true. His sense of obligation, his devotion to even the least details of duty, his unswerving support of all that was best, forbade the fear that loss of interest could ever weaken his championship of the things that were pure and of good report. The warmth of his heart and the strength of his love, as those know who came into close association with him, fired his logic and made his influence as softening as it was moving. His joy and his success in preaching the Gospel, and his entire, though unostentatious, consecration of all his splendid powers to his Lord constrained us to believe that in the coming generation he would be among the ablest defenders of the Christian faith.

The Faculty would express their deep sympathy with Mr. Smalley's family and friends. They are afflicted with them. Like them, they do not try to explain this providence. With them, they look to the Giver of all grace for grace still to trust Him who, because He is Himself both truth and love, must do all things well.

LYNDEN C. L. D'ZILVA

The Faculty of Princeton Theological Seminary, having learned with deep sorrow of the death of Mr. Lynden Columb Lorain D'Zilva, a student in the second year of his course in the Seminary, put on record the following minute of their appreciation of him and direct that copies of the same be sent to the Princeton Press, to the Princeton Seminary Bulletin and to the family of the deceased.

THE PRINCETON SEMINARY BULLETIN

Having taken his collegiate course at the Royal College of Ceylon and having taught for some years in the Wesleyan Missionary College there, Mr. D'Zilva entered the Seminary with a mature mind and with an unusual equipment for his work. He at once distinguished himself in it. In all departments, but especially in that of Semitics, he excelled. Along many lines, but particularly in New Testament criticism, he was an omniverous reader. He discovered a rare keenness and subtlety in his search for truth. All who knew him were impressed by the honesty and the intensity of his intellectual life. And not a few did know him. Close student though he was, he was not unsocial. Indeed, he had a simplicity, a vivacity, and a sympathy which attracted many to him. Nor was he undeveloped on his religious side. Those who heard his prayers at our Conference could not fail to be impressed by the depth and the richness of his spiritual life. Indeed, such had been his progress and such was his deportment that the Faculty had come to cherish high expectations for his future. His sudden death, therefore, is to us all a blow as serious as it is mysterious. We would fall back on him who is "our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble." Our hearts go out in sympathy for the mother and for the family of him who has been taken from us; and we commend them to "God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies and the God of all comfort; who comforteth us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in any trouble, by the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God."

The Rev. J. Herbert Morton

A number of prominent missionary workers have spent a part of their furloughs as guests of the Seminary. At the opening of the session last fall it was a great privilege to welcome the Rev. J. Herbert Morton, of India. His presence and influence were most helpful, but early in the winter he was taken ill, and last month he passed away.

The following has been received from the Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the United Presbyterian Church:

On April 29th, 1910, in Allegheny, Pa., the Rev. J. Herbert Morton, who had sailed for India in 1901, passed to his reward. Excepting one year spent in language study, Mr. Morton's missionary life was devoted to educational work. He was principal of Gordon Missionary College at Rawal Pindi. He possessed the rare gifts of an educationist, his personal life was radiant with hopefulness and spirituality, he had had the rich experience of a full term of service and was still in his prime, and his going deprives a needy work of a strong leader.

One of the missionaries writing of him said, "Whenever I think of him it makes me want to be good." There are multitudes who will feel that same impulse whenever they think of J. Herbert Morton. And though being dead he will still speak.

Shortly before his death, Mr. Morton asked to have repeated to him certain lines of poetry, and we give them because they so perfectly characterize his life.

"The period of life is brief,

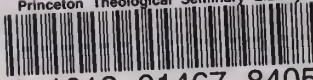

It is the red in the red rose leaf,
It is the gold of a sunset sky,
It is the flight of a bird on high.

But one may fill the space

With such infinite grace
That the red shall vein all time,
And the gold through the ages shine,
And the bird fly, swift and straight,
To the portals of God's own gate."
